MESSAGE FROM VICE-CHANCELLOR

Dr. Sheela Raja Ram

Vice-Chancellor, Botho University

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations Class of 2021!

A very big congratulations to you on reaching this very important milestone in your life and career. Massive gratitude goes to your family, friends, and most importantly, your faculty for supporting you in this journey. Your success during this long-drawn COVID-19 pandemic demonstrates your tenacity and resilience as you overcame multiple challenges to get this far.

This year marks a very important milestone as it is the 25th anniversary of Botho University as an institution of higher education in Botswana. BU has worked tirelessly over these years to build an eco-system that delivers good quality teaching, learning and facilitates the development of employable graduates who can become self-reliant citizens and job creators and are future-ready. The IFC (World Bank Group) Vitae assessment in 2021 of our employability initiatives gave Botho a remarkable 77% institutional employability score comparable to the best in Africa. The Digital Maturity Assessment conducted as part of the Digital for Tertiary Education Program (D4TEP) by IFC and Deloitte Consulting earlier this year shows that Botho University's digital maturity is comparable with leading global universities.

As a Botho University student, in addition to solid disciplinary knowledge, you are well trained to work with technology, you have had opportunities to do internships with local and international employers as well as virtual internships, and you learnt about entrepreneurship, some of you worked with communities to build solutions to their challenges, some of you learnt about innovation for sustainable development, and some of you grabbed the opportunity and went on international student exchanges. Through this learning, you have had opportunities to develop important employability traits espoused in the Botho Graduate Profile, such as Critical Thinking, Collaboration and Teamwork, and Articulation and Communication. This focus on employability has led to the IFC Vitae Assessment demonstrating that employers value our graduates. Hence, as a Botho University graduate, I ask you to hold your head high and leverage your talent and experiences as you begin this new journey to build your career and your personality further.

Many of you are perhaps already dealing with new challenges as you decide on the next steps in your life. These are indeed difficult times for job seekers as most economies are still recovering from this ongoing pandemic and are also dealing with the effect of war and inflation. However, please remember that for every adverse situation, there are always new opportunities for the brave. This pandemic has accelerated three trends that could define how you engage with work in the future. Firstly, hybrid remote working will continue to grow. Secondly, with the growth of online services, Africa will witness immense growth in e-commerce. Finally, more and more companies will use automation and Artificial Intelligence (AI) to provide services to their customers in remote parts of Africa. These trends will create new jobs and new-age entrepreneurial opportunities as African communities continue to demand more access to services.

There are only two ways to prove your talent, by knowing and by doing. Success will require a determination on your part to adopt lifelong learning to keep developing yourself ahead of others. As you chart your path in life, you will need to constantly tap into the attributes that define the Botho Graduate as embedded in the Botho Graduate Profile. I urge you to continue to learn to have excellent communication & interpersonal skills, embrace the use of technology, and become more change-ready and societally inclined. This will need you to be more open-minded to accepting other people's cultures and modern work culture. Look beyond the borders of Botswana to tap into the huge African market as you pursue your goals and dreams in life. As you confront this uncertain future, I urge you to remember that success is always built upon failure, so do not be afraid to fail. Take that step forward to see what's behind that closed door. The risk you take by stepping into the unknown will be worth it as you will give yourself more options. I invite you to stay connected with the BU Alumni Association and benefit from the growing network as you journey towards success. At Botho University, we value our relationship with you as our alumni. We will continue facilitating new job opportunities and scholarships for further study, including BU Scholarships for alumni. We urge you to remain the best ambassadors of your university through your actions that are ethical and sustainable. All of us at Botho University wish you the best in all your future endeavours.

Pula!!!!

Best Wishes,

Dr. Sheela Raja Ram
Vice-Chancellor, Botho University
